

Rayburn— Calls Jobless Problem Urgent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The need to do something about mounting unemployment is more urgent than at any time since the great depression of the 1930s, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., said after a conference with President Kennedy today.

Rayburn added that Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported at the conference that he has found the situation worse than he had expected.

Venus Rocket Zooms 2.5 Miles Per Second

By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's Venus-bound space station zoomed ahead at 2.5 miles per second today and Soviet scientists reported its equipment was relaying back information as planned.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said two playback sessions of data from the station had been triggered by radio command from earth and that a big volume of data about space conditions was received.

Demand UN Quit Congo

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet government today officially withdrew its recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as U.N. general secretary and demanded that all foreign troops get out of the Congo within one month.

The Russians demanded the United Nations condemn Belgium in the slaying of Patrice Lumumba, the deposed Congo Premier.

A note distributed by Tass also demanded the arrest and trial of President Moïse Tshombe of Katanga Province for Lumumba's death.

Firms Respond To TV Report On Cairo's Plight

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Industrial firms seeking new plant sites have responded to a nationally televised report on Cairo as a community in a depressed area.

The filmed "Eyewitness to History" program appeared Friday night over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Harry Emerson, president of the First Bank and Trust Co. of Cairo, received a telephone call early Saturday from a Detroit firm asking about the availability of a vacant plant site mentioned on the TV program.

Martin Brown, manager of the Cairo Evening Citizen, was asked by a New Jersey firm for details on industrial possibilities of Cairo. Other requests for information came from two firms in Florida, one in Colorado and one in Wheeling, West Va.

The program also evoked some humor in Cairo. Sidney Rosenberg appeared on the program and discussed a decline in his beauty shop business. The next day he received a CARE package containing a bag of rice, corn, some wheat and an all-day sucker.

Most Cairo area residents who viewed the program said it was good publicity for the city of about 10,000 population. An estimated 17 per cent of the labor force in the Cairo area is unemployed.

Tired Of Rules Unit Musical Chairs Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee has been engaged in a Capitol Hill version of the game of musical chairs.

Capitol workmen would like to see the game end.

It started last week when Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said, presumably with tongue in cheek, that he didn't plan to order three more black leather swivel armchairs for the three newest members of his committee. Smith said he didn't expect the three to be around very long.

Expansion of the committee to take in three new members represented a defeat for Smith, who fought off efforts to enlarge the committee as a means of easing the way for President Kennedy's legislative program.

One of the newcomers is Rep. Carl Elliott, D-Ala., who apparently has a devoted following back home. When the news that he might not get a chair matching the ones of other committee members hit Elliott's district, friends

Goldberg reported to Kennedy, other members of the Cabinet and Democratic congressional leaders at an hour-long White House session which concentrated on the problem of joblessness and economic recovery.

As Goldberg did Monday night after a meeting with Kennedy, Rayburn said the President will have something to say about the unemployment situation at his news conference Wednesday night. The conference will be broadcast live on nationwide television and radio.

Newsman asked Rayburn whether he got the impression today that the administration regards the unemployment problem as more urgent than had been anticipated.

Rayburn replied he didn't want to speak for the administration, but that in his opinion the problem reflects "the most urgency since the great depression" of 30 years ago.

The White House session was held as Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana pushed for fast action on the economic program Kennedy said is aimed at "putting millions of unemployed back to work."

All equipment aboard was functioning as intended, Tass said. During the first playback, the temperature aboard was 68 degrees Fahrenheit. The account said a temperature control system was designed to assure proper conditions for operation of equipment on the station.

The equipment is designed to study cosmic radiation, magnetic fields, interplanetary matter and registering of collisions with micrometeorites. Tass continued. Chemical sources charged by solar batteries furnish the power to radio information back to earth.

Dr. Alexander Markov, an expert in physics and mathematics, wrote in Komsmolskaya Pravda that after the first Venus probe, other rockets would carry automatic instruments to the planet itself to send back information about its atmosphere, surface and flora and fauna if they exist.

Prof. Ari Sternfeld, Soviet space scientist, predicted the station would rendezvous with Venus at about 26 million miles out in space between May 15 and 31.

(The U.S. Naval Observatory said Venus would be 42.9 million miles away on May 20.)

'HAPPY-GO-LUCKY' POLICEMAN KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An off-duty policeman, described by fellow officers and friends as "a happy-go-lucky nice guy," shot his estranged wife to death Monday, then killed himself with a bullet.

They were patrolman William Lodi, 50, and Mrs. Velma Lodi, 49. The couple had been separated for some time. He was living in their home in St. Louis County and she was staying in St. Louis with a son, Glen Lodi, a trainee in the St. Louis Police Academy.

Neighbors of Lodi said he had been concerned about his marital problems and disposition of the Lodi home and its property and had apparently been brooding deeply about it.

started a nickel and dime drive to buy him a chair.

The drive was more than successful. Elliott's chair was delivered Monday to the Rules committee room. It is a brown leather swivel chair with curled headrest and it is bigger than those of other committee members. It also is bigger than Smith's.

Smith ordered the chair looked up in his private office and refused to allow it to be photographed. Instead, he called the custodian and asked for three chairs like the 12 old ones.

Soon, Capitol workmen wheeled in three swivel chairs and arranged them in place. Smith said they wouldn't do. They were smaller than the others, had hard seats and no arms.

So they were taken back to storage. Three brand new chairs to match the old ones were ordered. They are expected to be ready when the committee meets again, perhaps next week.

Elliott then will have to find another place for his personal chair.

Your Paper Money May Be Backed By Wire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of that paper money you're carrying around in your wallet may be backed by silver wire in an Atomic Energy Commission machine at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The AEC is still using some of the silver it borrowed from the Treasury Department during World War II when copper wire was in short supply.

But there's no danger the Treasury will renege on any of its silver certificates. Under the original loan agreement, dollars are issued against the AEC silver stock, although it may be part of an electromagnetic separator.

Use of the silver by the AEC 16 years after World War II ended came to light during research by aides to Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., on the international balance of payments problem.

Javits, a member of the Senate Banking Committee, today made public a letter from the AEC explaining its use of Treasury silver.

During World War II, the Manhattan Engineering District—war-time predecessor to the AEC and developer of the atomic bomb—borrowed from the Treasury $27,814,149 ounces of silver valued at $520 million.

Because of a copper shortage, the silver was used in bars and coils installed in the electromagnetic separations plant at Oak Ridge.

Since the end of World War II the AEC has returned 363,062,832 ounces of silver to the Treasury but retains 64,751,316 ounces valued at $59.6 million.

"This silver on hand is still in coils, some of which are being used in the stable isotope program which the remainder being held for future use or return to the Treasury," the AEC said in its letter to Javits.

Douglas Favors Make-Work Plan Like New Deal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A make-work program similar to the new deal's public works administration is favored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., if other emergency remedies fail to alleviate the current recession.

Unless present measures bring relief by April or May, Douglas urges a 3 or 4 per cent cut in withholding taxes of employed workers to increase their purchasing power. And if this doesn't work, another PWA could offer employment on government dams and other reclamation or construction jobs.

While there are about 100 depressed areas in the nation now, there is no evidence of panic anywhere in the land, the Senator told a news conference Monday.

"But," he added, "let's face it: we're in trouble."

Weger Calmly Hears Witnesses At Trial For Triple Slaying

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A young handyman accused of being the triple killer of Starved Rock State Park sat calmly in Circuit Court Monday as the state presented its first witness in its efforts to send him to the electric chair.

The defendant, wiry Chester Rocky Weger, 21, listened stonily as a succession of prosecution witnesses testified in his trial on a charge of murdering Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, one of three Riverside, Ill., matrons slain in the state park March 14.

Madcap Joy Rules At Mardi Gras

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Madcap mirth reigns supreme today as a multi-colored sea of masked merry-makers turn New Orleans into the city that care forgot.

Thousands of people are expected to cavort from sunup to midnight in the final blowout—Mardi Gras—before the penitential Lenten season starts.

Six gigantic parades, with fantastic floats and high-stepping marching units, will roll through the streets. Onlookers, with outstretched arms, will clamor for throws—gaudy beads and trinkets.

The Negro Carnival king—Zulu—will kick off the festivities as his parade winds helter-skelter through city streets. The parade has an announced route, but if this year is like past Mardi Gras, the Zulus are liable to turn up anywhere.

The group is parading despite protests from other Negro groups, many who have called for a boycott of Mardi Gras activities.

Reck, monarch of merriment, will have a four-hour parade.

Tonight the Krewe of Comus, the oldest Mardi Gras organization, will wind up the parading. Rex and Comus will meet at midnight for a champagne toast at their masked balls.

New Orleans businessman Lawrence Moore Williams was this year's Rex. His lovely queen was Virginia Wayne Borah, daughter of U.S. Appeals Court Judge Wayne G. Borah.

The Negro Carnival king—Zulu—kicked off the morning festivities as his parade wound helter-skelter through the city streets. Instead of beads, the Zulus tossed coconuts to the crowds. Other Negro groups boycotted the festivities.

But most of the merry-makers seemed oblivious to rumors of possible racial unrest stemming from the pitched legal battle over the integration of two New Orleans public schools in mid-November and the white boycott of the two schools.

Earlier in the 10-day Carnival period, hotels and motels had room plenty, but by weekend it was difficult to find accommodations. Night clubs reported landslide business.

Silent On Rumor Of Major Moves Against Castro

HAVANA (AP)—The government kept tight-lipped today on reports that a large anti-Castro force landed on Cuba's northeast coast and opened a second front in Oriente Province.

Authorities also refused to comment on rumors sweeping Havana that a battalion of Fidel Castro's militiamen defected during fighting in the Escambray Mountains and went over to the rebel side.

Attempts to shed some light on the military situation were smothered by an official news blackout. The Armed Forces Ministry met all queries with the terse reply, "We do not have any information."

Travelers from Oriente Province and Havana sources close to the anti-Castro underground insisted that up to 1,000 men landed recently at Baracoa or near Moa Bay on Cuba's northeast coast.

Other informants, quoting relatives of Cuban exiles, claim some of these refugees are operating in Sierra Cristal in the Oriente range about 50 miles north of the provincial capital, Santiago. This is where Fidel's brother, Raul Castro, opened the second front against ex-President Fulgencio Batista.

Sierra Cristal is about 75 miles northwest of Baracoa, which would give the invaders a formidable march to reach a new insurgent front, if one exists.

One of the rebels' main goals has been to open a second front in the Oriente to relieve pressure on the insurgents in the Escambrays.

It was reliably reported that more than 50,000 militiamen are tightening their squeeze on the Escambray insurgents. Insurrections, with their supply lines cut off, apparently are being forced to come down from the mountain strongholds to seek provisions. There are occasional reports of clashes, with the anti-Castro forces usually reported losing.

Weger, father of two, a kitchen helper at the park lodge when the three women were bludgeoned to death while on an outing, showed no visible reaction when State's Attorney Robert E. Richardson demanded that the jury impose the extreme penalty.

The other victims of the brutal killing, wives of Chicago business executives, were Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50. Their bodies were found in a shallow cave in a canyon where they had gone on a hike.

A dozen witnesses, including husbands of two of the victims, testified Monday at the commencement of testimony in the trial, which is expected to last a month.

Grieving Robert Lindquist, 52, a banker, wept convulsively on the witness stand as he identified a broken camera and a shattered pair of binoculars which the state contends were among the weapons used to slay the three women.

Lindquist testified the camera and binoculars were his. He said Mrs. Lindquist took them along when she and the other women left Riverside for a three day holiday in the state park. The state contends the killer beat the women with the articles and a heavy tree branch after they had been trapped in the canyon.

The camera, binoculars and tree limb were found near the bodies. Choking with emotion, Lindquist broke down during his testimony and had to be led from the courtroom to regain his composure. He is a vice president of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank in Chicago.

Robert Murphy, husband of another of the victims, identified photographs of his wife and the other victims. He is a vice president of Borg-Warner Corp.

Weger confessed the triple killing in November after he had been questioned several times previously and released. Later, he repudiated the confession, charging it was made under duress.

Goldberg Gives Orders In Try
To Aid Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, back from a tour of areas of high unemployment, has issued two departmental orders to try to cope with the problem.

Undeterred by Republican criticism, he has gone ahead with plans for early visits to other depressed areas for a series of meetings on the problems of the jobless.

The two orders issued are:

1. Creation of a new office in the Labor Department which will make a special study of unemployment problems resulting from automation.

2. From now on, the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security will put out figures once a month showing which areas of the country have substantial unemployment. In the past these figures have been provided once every two months.

The orders were among subjects discussed Monday night by Goldberg and President Kennedy in an hour's talk at the White House.

The Republican criticism was in the form of an unsigned article in Battle Line, a publication of the Republican National Committee. The article claimed Goldberg's swing through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania was politically inspired and that he raised false hopes by telling jobless workers "I feel you that we will find you a job."

Farm Workers
Fewest Since
1925 Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm employment has dropped to the lowest level since the government started keeping such records in 1925.

An Agriculture Department report shows that during the last week of January, the farm work force totaled 4,865,000, including 4,006,000 farm family workers and 859,000 hired hands. The total was down 3 per cent from a year earlier.

Farm employment for the 1955-59 period averaged 5,499,000 for January.

The department said a continuing downward trend in the number of farms and an increasing use of labor-saving machinery were the major factors in the situation.

TV BLACKED OUT
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hot and cold layers of air converged on Miami Monday night, blacking out all television network programs in south-east Florida and disrupting telephone and teletype communications.

Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. officials said there was no wind in the area and the air refracted signals, affecting all communications channels.

The trouble showed up at 7:35 p.m. on some television stations in the Miami area and did not clear up until shortly before midnight.

Lumumba Slaying Endangers Whites

Marchers Protest Killing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Demonstrators paraded the streets of Moscow, Cairo, London and Rome today protesting the slaying of Congolese ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba. A new outbreak of bloody violence was feared in the Congo.

The demonstrators chose Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, as the main target. Several hundred stoned the Belgian embassy in Moscow, breaking windows and halting their attack only when police moved in. Belgium's embassies in other cities were besieged.

The United States also drew criticism from some demonstrators for its support of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo policies.

About 20 demonstrators gathered in front of the U. S. Information Agency office in Cairo, shouting pro-Lumumba slogans. They made no attempt to attack the building.

A U.N. spokesman in the Congo said Lumumba's supporters in Stanleyville appeared to be trying to prevent antiwhite reprisals. Soldiers who gathered in a Stanleyville street Monday night threatening action against Europeans were dispersed by Gen. Victor Lundula, Lumumbist military commander, the spokesman said.

President Lauds
K For Launching
Of Venus Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today congratulated Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the Russians' "impressive scientific achievement" in launching a space vehicle bound for Venus.

In a message to the Kremlin leader, Kennedy called the development "another chapter in man's exploration of the universe."

The White House said the President's message was sent to Khrushchev Monday night through the State Department.

"I wish to extend my congratulations and those of the American people for the impressive scientific achievement represented by the launching of your space vehicle to Venus."

"We shall watch its progress with interest and we wish you success in another chapter in man's exploration of the universe."

After Gun Fight

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—A late model car abandoned by burglars after an exchange of shots with a Franklin county deputy sheriff has been traced to Addison, Ill., a Chicago suburb where it was stolen.

Authorities said the car was taken from the Grand Motors used car lot in Addison last Sept. 5. New 1961 license plates on the car also were stolen.

The burglars, one of whom was shot in the back by Deputy Ralph Williams, are still at large. They fled on foot after the shooting.

Williams stopped them as they attempted to break into a grocery at Thompsonville early Friday.

Franklin county authorities have alerted doctors and hospitals in the area to be on the lookout for a wounded man. Burglary tools worth more than $2,000 were found in the abandoned car along with a rifle and a pistol.

World Shocked By Lumumba Slaying

LONDON (AP)—The slaying of Patrice Lumumba shocked governments around the world today and sparked new blasts at U.N. performance in the Congo from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Anti-Belgian demonstrations flared in London and Rome. The United States also was the target of scattered attacks for supporting U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo policies.

Critics generally ignored the fact that the Security Council had barred the U.N. Congo force from intervening between the Congo's warring factions that the Soviet Union had persistently blocked any extension of U.N. authority in the Congo unless it meant Lumumba's return to power.

U. S. President Kennedy expressed "great shock" at the news of Lumumba's death but his government voiced its continued approval for United Nations handling of the Congo problem. His U.N. representative, Adlai E. Stevenson, termed the killing "distressing" and gave support to Hammarskjöld's call for an inquiry into Lumumba's death.

The Soviet Union took the lead in attacking the United Nations for failing to protect the former Congo premier. It singled out Hammarskjöld as the man ultimately responsible for "this bloody, black deed," Belgium, its Western allies and the Congo's anti-Lumumba leaders were also targets of Moscow's wrath.

Belgian authorities expressed regret, but the man in the Brussels streets shrugged. "It's a good thing, he was a bad man," was the remark generally overheard. In the Senate members expressed concern for the safety of Belgians still in the Congo's Lumumbist Kivu and Stanleyville provinces.

The official Katanga explanation of Lumumba's death was disbelieved almost everywhere. Fear was expressed in the West that the killing would touch off full-scale civil war in the Congo.

Unless the United Nations contained the situation, said Britain's conservative Daily Telegraph, "the danger will not be only a civil war, but a repetition of the Spanish civil war where intervention by great powers will all too inevitably develop into a rehearsal for something worse."

The Tunisian government formally expressed indignation at Lumumba's death and described his killing as an "odious crime." But President Habib Bourguiba pledged to aid Hammarskjöld in anything he may undertake to bring about a reconciliation between the warring Congo leaders.

Gavin's selection, which had been disclosed earlier, was one of a long string of appointments announced Monday by President Kennedy.

Gavin, 58, resigned from the Army in 1958 with the allegation that economy-minded Pentagon officials had held back necessary missile advances. He was then chief of the Army research and development program.

Gavin gained a reputation as a "jumping general" with four combat forays in World War II as leader of the 82nd Airborne Division. He was made a major general at the age of 37.

Upon retirement from the Army Gavin joined Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., as a vice president. He became president of the firm last March.

Tells Of Seeing Officers Carry
Out Merchandise

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A 75-year-old woman testified Monday she watched from her bedroom window Jan. 18 as two policemen carried merchandise from an auto appliance store after the place had been closed for the night.

Two Peoria patrolmen, Dayton Herman and Ronald Trefry, are charged in a complaint signed by Police Chief Bernard Kennedy with taking private property, a violation of the police handbook and not a criminal charge.

Mrs. Rilla Cuddigan, whose home is near the store, testified at a hearing before the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners that she saw two uniformed men, whom she identified as policemen, carrying merchandise from a Goodrich tire store.

Mrs. Cuddigan did not identify Herman and Trefry as the men she saw.

She said the men placed the merchandise in a vehicle she identified as a police wagon and drove away. She said they returned to the store later and she telephoned police headquarters.

The witness testified other police arrived on the scene and talked with the two uniformed men she saw carrying out merchandise. Then, she said, the men she saw left.

Claude Thomas, manager of the store, reported five automobile batteries were taken from the store.

The hearing was continued to Wednesday.

Manzikala Calls For No Violence

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Patrice Lumumba's followers in Stanleyville today appeared trying to stave off reprisal against whites for the slaying of the deposed premier.

A U.N. spokesman reported that Gen. Victor Lundula, military commander of the Lumumba forces, succeeded in dispersing a group of soldiers who gathered in a Stanleyville street Monday night and threatened action against Europeans.

It had been widely feared the Lumumba followers would wreak vengeance on Belgians and Congolese political hostages in Oriental and Kivu provinces, where the Lumumba force is firmly in control.

But the Stanleyville leaders pledged to continue their fight to gain control of all of the Congo.

President Jean Manzikala of Oriental Province, in a statement prepared for broadcasting, called on Congolese in Stanleyville to refrain from violence against Europeans.

The assassination of Lumumba left the leadership of the Congo's leftist forces in the hands of Communist-trained Antoine Gizenga, 41, who has set up a rump regime in Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province 775 miles northeast of Leopoldville.

Backed by the Soviet Union and a strong segment of the African bloc, Gizenga has challenged the central government

Editorial Comment

Needed: Agreement

West Germany is, of course, the second most prosperous nation in the West and it is altogether fitting that it should help the United States to ease its current international economic difficulties.

The Germans are now offering that assistance on terms which seem reasonable for this country to accept.

Late last fall an American mission to the Bonn government failed to attain agreement, reportedly because it insisted on certain unrealistic features. Whatever was proposed, the Germans rejected it and nothing was gained.

Now the Germans are suggesting on their own initiative most of the things they wanted to propose at that time.

To ease America's balance of payments deficit, they would prepay all but 200 million dollars postwar debt to us. They would toss in 250 million advance on German arms purchases to be made here.

On top of this, Bonn would up its NATO contribution for certain purposes by 12 million dollars and allot funds for still more arms purchases. It would likewise give thought to taking over some foreign development projects currently supported by this country.

In the highly technical field of interest rates and gold flow, the Germans would try to help, too. They would maintain their present restrictions on the conversion of German dollar reserves into gold. The dollars-into-gold trend in Europe has been the major sore spot for America.

Bonn would hold the German bank rate at 3 per cent in an effort to discourage short term investors. Another troubling factor has been the flow of dollars abroad in response to the attractions of high interest rates.

These measures, matched against nearly a score proposed by the Kennedy administration for general application to our international payments situation, could be extremely beneficial.

It is important to get past this unsettling phase in our foreign economic affairs so that we can work more constructively abroad on development projects.

In that work we need the enlarged participation of prosperous West Germany. For that reason it would be well if we can reach a quick and amicable accord with Bonn on the loan and payments proposals it has now presented.

Ladies Should Give 'That Man' A Break On St. Valentine's Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Ladies, for years you have campaigned for your friends on St. Valentine's day. You have compelled them to bankrupt their ingenuity to say something of their pocketbooks—thinking up new things to give you to please you on this day sacred to lovers.

You have made a feminine racket of the valentine. Why not—just for one day—reverse your field? Why not make it a masculine racket?

In all fairness, you ought to. For years you have campaigned shrilly for equal rights with men. Why not give men a break and let them have equal rights on Valentine's Day? Why not spend a little of that green stuff making some man happy for 24 hours? I don't mean just to drop off at the dime store and buy him a small nickel card with a big, red heart on it.

You've always expected your boy friend to give you something expensive. This year, why not surprise that big lug in your life by doing something big for him? Since you rarely spend much time worrying about how to make your beau happy on Valentine's Day, you may need a few suggestions on how to do it.

Here are a few tips:

If he's the dashing type, you might skip down to the bank and draw out enough dough to make the downpayment on that new sports car he's been yearning for.

He'll think you're real dreamy if you gift him with a pair of diamond-studded gold cufflinks. Later, if necessary, you can get

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his wife spent the weekend in Virginia's hunt country—the home territory of Howard W. Smith, a sharp-eyed banker and one of the shrewdest men in Congress.

Just two weeks ago Kennedy was barely able to chase Smith up a congressional tree.

Smith, a House member for 30 years and set in his ways, represents a district which includes Middleburg, where the Kennedys leased a 400-acre estate for weekend getaways, 45 miles from Washington.

Middleburg, also set in its ways and with a large distaste for being disturbed, is in an area said to contain more millionaires than any section of the country.

Kennedy is a millionaire, too, but a lot of his neighbors are Republicans.

Before the Kennedys settled down in Middleburg the President's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, confided to newsmen: "I think the important thing we want to keep in mind here is the real desire of the President and Mrs. Kennedy to preserve the character of this particular area of Virginia so that life can continue in its own unhurried way."

Things got a little hurried, though, what with linemen laying telephone and telegraph lines and more than a score of newsmen, photographers and Kennedy staffers taking up all the room in the two small hotels.

Kennedy's real reason for taking out after Smith was a case of who corners whom.

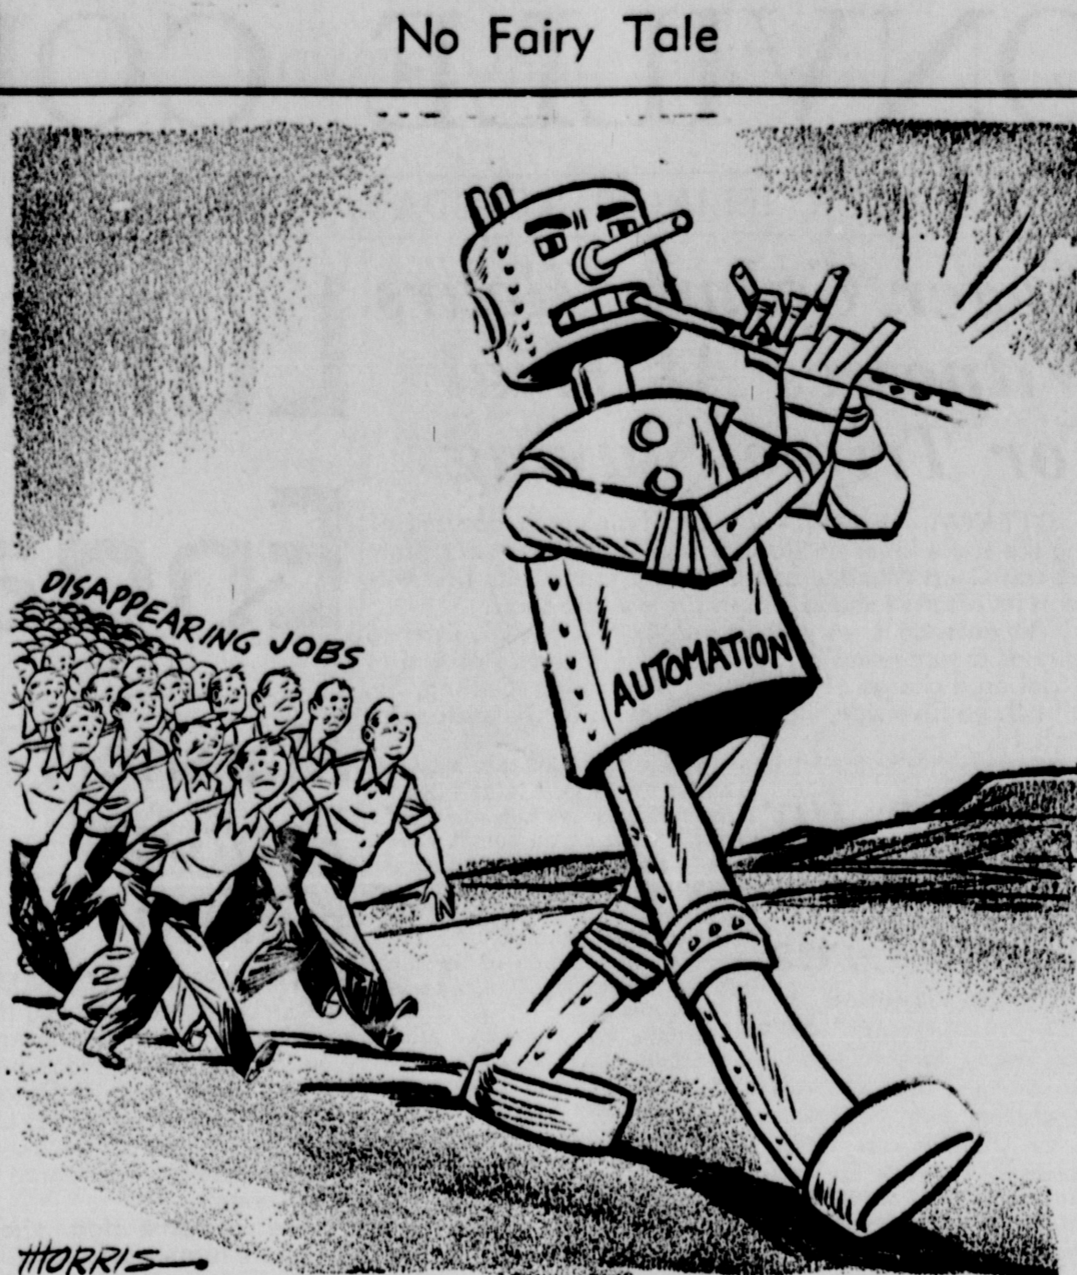

Smith is chairman of the House Rules Committee which, through a combination of Southern Democrats (headed by Smith) and conservative Republicans in the past could kill legislation that conservatives disliked by bottling it up.

This would have meant gloomy days for Kennedy's program unless he got the whole House to change the committee makeup by adding some not-so-conservative members to smother Smith and his friends.

This is what Kennedy and his friends feared. They went through the congressional meadows for people to line up with them while Smith and his friends did the same on their side.

In the end, Kennedy won but by only five votes, hardly a smashing triumph for a new president. The undaunted Smith must have figured things might get better if the House gets some new members in the 1962 election.

He gave his new committee members stiff-backed chairs, guessing out loud they wouldn't be around long enough to need comfortable ones.

Kennedy's Twinkle-in-Eye Humor Quiet but to Point

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This guy—(No, that's a disrespectful way to begin. Start again)—This President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 43 (D-Mass.) has a nice sense of humor. Which is why you may think of him oftenest as just a nice guy.

The President's sense of humor is not like Gov. Adlai Stevenson's, which provokes belly laughs and which makes many think he's always clowning, and too much of a funny man.

There's nothing more fatal for a politician than to have a hyper-developed sense of humor. A vast majority of the voters seem to want to take their leaders seriously.

A politician can tell an allegedly "funny story" and get away with it, if it is broad humor of a slapstick variety. But if it's too subtle, too cynical or too sophisticated, the crowd won't get it and this can defeat a man.

President Kennedy's humor is of the quiet type. He often plays it deadpan, or with a sly smile and a twinkle in his eye. It is a quick wit that invokes chuckles, not loud guffaws.

Already there is a good collection of Kennedy cracks on record, and the file is going to grow. So far, it hasn't gotten him into any trouble and you can hope it never does. Here are a few of his rib ticklers to try on your own funny bone:

When criticism was at its height over the appointment of brother Bobby as youngest attorney general in U.S. history, the President cracked before the Alfalfa Club in Washington:

"I don't see anything wrong with giving Bobby a little legal experience before he starts practicing law."

The President's humor relies heavily on understatement. At his first news conference, he was asked about the battle over enlargement of the House Rules Committee.

"The responsibility rests with the members of the House," said the President at the conclusion of his statement. "I would not attempt in any way to infringe upon that responsibility. I will give my view as an interested citizen."

When he appeared before the National Press Club a little over a year ago, the steel strike had just been settled, and there was a wild rumor going around that the Hon. Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father, had a hand in it, which was arrant nonsense. The then-Senator Kennedy observed somewhat shyly in his opening remarks: "I'm sorry my father couldn't

If Gals Control the Talk, Men Take to the Kitchen

Women are always writing in to this column to complain about the irritating habit men have of getting off by themselves at a party made up of husbands and wives.

Instead of complaining, maybe they ought to try to figure out why the men prefer man talk to man-woman talk.

Chances are it is because when the men stay around with the women all they hear is woman talk. Talk about children. Talk about women's club doings. Talk about women who aren't present. Talk about housework. Talk about clothes. Talk about hair styles.

A group of married women can sit all evening talking about things that men aren't interested in discussing—and never once run out of purely feminine topics.

They can do that and never even notice that the men are restive, that the men aren't getting a chance to put a word in edgewise. Then when the men start quietly stealing away to join each other in the kitchen where they can talk about some of the things they are interested in, the women feel insulted.

It happens over and over and women never seem to learn that just because men are married doesn't mean that they want to spend their evening talking about whatever interests their wives.

The only way for wives at a party to keep the men interested in the conversation is to make the talk general enough to make the men want to enter in and have their say.

There's one other thing of course. If the women want the men to hang around, then the women have got to be willing to do as much or a little more listening than they do talking.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HONOLULU (AP)—Nicest success story in the islands is Martin Denny, the musical wizard who found success in the jungle.

For 25 years, Denny fingered pianos from here to Buenos Aires with only token success. A New Yorker reared in Los Angeles, he started playing in bands while in school. Jobs were scarce in depression times, so he and some friends signed on as a cruise band and knocked around South America for five years.

War service followed, and he used the GI bill to study music in Hollywood. He again worked the music mills, from small combos to accompanying Betty Hutton. He couldn't find himself, and a broken marriage added to his unhappiness.

"I decided to come to Hawaii," he says.

He found himself, creating a new kind of music that combines jungle sounds with haunting melody. A hit here, he went back to the mainland with high hopes. He got a few dates and then, nothing.

"For eight weeks I couldn't get a booking," he said, "but then some disc jockey started playing a record I had made, 'Quiet Village.'"

Wham! The disc went a million copies, and he sold a half-million of his "Exotica" album. More albums have hit, and he now spends half his time playing here, half in the other states.

Happily married, he averages $150,000 a year.

What makes his music different? He gets an amazing number of sounds from only five players, primitive but harmonic sounds with an occasional bird call thrown in. It's new and it sells. Martin Denny will never have to go back to playing on the boat to Rio.

10 YEARS AGO
The bloom of statehood has faded for Hawaii's industry. Now comes the steady work of luring new visitors.

Tourism is not just a sideline. It is Hawaii's No. 1 industry, having passed sugar and pineapple. And how is the tourist business?

As with most businesses in the other 48 states, it could be better. You hear talk of a recession on the mainland keeping people at home. Comments range from blunt pessimism to guarded optimism. Among them: "Business is slow everywhere when you have a change of administrations—too much uncertainty in the air."

"The sag in Canada's economy is hurting us; we aren't getting the number of Canadians who usually come this time of year."

There is no doubt that hotel business has been dragging in December and January, always the skimpiest months, anyway. One mammoth hotel was running at 40 per cent capacity.

Yet great new webs of steel are climbing the horizon at Waikiki Beach, and plans for more new hotels have been announced. Despite ailing business, there is no panic talk, as there was in Las Vegas five years ago when several hotels went broke.

The solution to the empty hotel rooms? Find more people to fill them. Hawaii has long been progressive in this, financing tourism since 1903. The lure of the islands is managed through the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, headed by ex-newsmen Dick MacMillan.

"The resort business is always out of balance," he said. "Either we have too few rooms, as we did last year, or we have too many, as now. But it will even up again."

He added that the Sheraton and Hilton hotel chains wouldn't have bought into Hawaii (at 17 and 21.5 millions respectively) if prosperity wasn't certain here. Tourism increased about 20 per cent annually since World War II, slipped to 5 per cent during the 1958 recession. Statehood came in 1959 with a 47 per cent boom. The figure was back to 20 per cent last year.

In 1960, 295,000 visitors, mostly Americans, spent $135 millions here. That was expected to rise 30 per cent in 1961, but so far the trend is only 5 per cent.

MacMillan sees the solution in seeking out customers beyond the U.S. West Coast, whence come 60 per cent of tourists. "With jets, a man can have breakfast in New York and take an afternoon swim in Hawaii," he pointed out. The bureau is also aiming at well-fitted travelers in Australia (500,000 go overseas every year), Europe, South America and Japan.

For Americans, Hawaii offers a patriotic appeal: Spend your travel dollars in the United States and help save our gold.

How to Curb Ravages Of Infectious Jaundice

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

By now, you've probably read of the dozen or more tragic deaths that occurred in New Jersey as the result of some sort of injection treatment given for nervous and mental disorders. In each instance, death was due to an attack of infectious jaundice, caused by a virus introduced during the injection.

The unfortunate practitioner who gave these injections has had his license suspended. And at least one of the victims, before her death, transmitted the disease to one of her children.

Now in case you think this dreadful catastrophe was an isolated incident let me tell you something about "syringic jaundice" and what you can do to help wipe it out.

The virus that causes syringic or serum jaundice is a close relative of the microbe responsible for what is known as "simple catarrhal jaundice" (virus hepatitis). But there is this difference. This pesky villain is highly resistant to ordinary methods of sterilization. And he's as persistent as a bill collector.

During World War II, he got into a batch of yellow fever vaccine. And, before he got through his dirty work, there were some 25,000 infections resulting in 62 deaths.

What made detection so difficult was the fact that the illness did not become apparent for from 40 to 180 days after the injection when victims were scattered far and beyond the staging area. And what makes threat still so menacing is the fact that it continues to circulate in the victim's blood for months and years after convalescence.

Thus the convalescent becomes a carrier. If he donates blood for transfusion he may be a source of danger to the very person he seeks to help.

That's why your doctor and your Red Cross question you so closely when you volunteer to donate blood. That's why you may be infected with his virus if the needle and/or syringe, used for him, is next used on you before it has been completely sterilized.

That may be why Public Health reports for the first 11 months of 1960 list twice as many cases of all types of infectious hepatitis as of the combined total of polio, meningitis, diphtheria and whooping cough. And that may be why the number of cases of all types of infectious jaundice rose, in 1960, to over 33,000 as compared with less than 20,000 in 1959.

Here's what you can do:

● If ever you've had infectious jaundice or any unexplained fever of long duration, especially while you were in the service, tell your doctor, dentist and any laboratory technician who may have occasion to give you an injection or draw blood from your vein or from your finger. As little as 1/4000 of a teaspoonful may be sufficient to transmit the infection.

● Forewarned, the person who uses the needle or syringe will then boil the apparatus for at least 30 minutes. This will surely kill the virus.

● If you require drug treatment, request medication in pill or tablet form unless injection therapy is imperative. With few exceptions, oral forms are available for important products, including antibiotics like penicillin and gland extracts like sex hormones and cortical steroids.

● And finally and perhaps most important, if ever you've had infectious jaundice or a long unexplained fever, especially in the service, scrub your hands after stool and again before you handle food or drink, especially if you are serving others.

Remember, the person whose health you preserve or whose life you may save may be a loved one.

WINCHESTER — The annual election of officers for the Scott County Farm Bureau Board was held at their regular meeting and resulted in William J. Chambers of Naples being elected as president for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were Dan Likes of Naples, vice president; Robert Worrell, Winchester, secretary; Harold Hurrelbrink, Winchester, treasurer.

Other board members are Claude Day, R. R. 1, Roodhouse; Donald Andell, R. R. 1, Winchester; Truman Scott, R. R. 3, Winchester; Harold Morris, Bluffs; LaVern Jones, Winchester; Maurice Funk, R. R. 1, Roodhouse; Harold Oakes, Bluffs; Wayne Kilver, Winchester; William D. Fletcher, R. R. 3, Winchester; Aldo Engelbrecht, Bluffs; and Leo Robinson, R. R. 2, Winchester.

James Henderson, Country Mutual Agency manager, reported that approximately 60% of the yearly quota for the new health insurance program was sold the first month. Mr. Henderson stated that two new agents are serving the county — Leland Little of Bluffs serves the north part of the county and Neal Cooper of Manchester the south portion of the county.

Melvin Schnake, secretary of organization, reported the following committees appointed by the new officers for the 1961 year:

Executive committee: William J. Chambers, Dan Likes, Robert Worrell, and Harold Hurrelbrink; organization and information: Harold Morris, chairman, Donald Andell, Dan Likes, William D. Fletcher; legislation and public affairs: Wayne Kilver, Harold Oakes, Claude Day, Aldo Engelbrecht, and Maurice Funk; insurance and business service: Leo Robinson, Virgil Vortman, Abner Day, and Dan Likes; building: Robert Worrell, Harold Hurrelbrink, and William J. Chambers; marketing: Truman Scott, LaVern Jones, Nimrod Funk, and George Krusa; county Farm Bureau women's committee: Mrs. Robert Worrell, Mrs. Olin Clark, Mrs. Fritz Stegemann, Jr., Mrs. Wayne Bruns, and Mrs. William Andras.

CWF Circles To Meet

The three Circles of the Christian Women's Fellowship Group of the First Christian Church in the city will meet on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Elizabeth Circle will meet on Wednesday evening, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Gerald Wisdom with Mrs. Don Cox as assistant hostess. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Brown during which time a film will be shown. Mrs. William Hubbert will be in charge of devotions.

The Mary-Dartha Circle, whose chairman is Mrs. Jesse Saffer, will meet at the same time on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clement Thomas with her assistant hostesses being Mrs. Harold Fearnough and Miss Nellie Roosa. Mrs. Randall Killebrew will be program leader for the evening.

On Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. members of the Dorcas Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Eva Funk with Mrs. Leonard Plowman chairman, in charge of the business. Mrs. W. O. Nothorn will serve as assistant hostess. The program topic entitled, "Together in Building a Fellowship," will be discussed by Mrs. Muriel Helliwell. Worship leader for the evening's meeting is Mrs. Carl Coultas.

All Circle members are reminded to bring their articles for the baby layette to the meeting.

Confraternity Groups Meet

The Confraternity Groups of St. Mark's Church in Winchester are conducting their second session in a series of eight consecutive confraternity lessons for the first part of 1961. The lesson under discussion by each of the groups this week is entitled "Charity and Criticism of one's Neighbor." A briefing session on the lesson was given by Father James O'Hara following the 10:00 o'clock Mass this past Sunday to the host of each group.

St. Teresa's group and St. Patrick's group met this past Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Redshaw and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kimble. The members of St. Agnes' group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cody last evening. Those belonging to St. Mark's group will meet this next Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Moore at which time two chapters will be discussed. St. Catherine's members will meet on Friday evening, 8:00 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Pranger for their lesson discussion.

FARM SELLS AT $89 PER ACRE

A 247 acre farm one mile east of Bluffs sold at public auction Monday to Lyle Husband for $89 per acre. Approximately 125 acres of the farm are tillable. It is improved with a five room house, barn, shed, electricity and water from a pond and spring.

LISTEN TO WLDS

Refers It To Committee

Mayor DuBois disclaimed action to terminate the forester's services and referred the matter back to the committee to determine whether he is needed, and to submit its decision to the council.

Alderman Hocking asked the mayor if he as liquor commissioner, is required to submit annual reports on activities of that position. The mayor replied that he knew of no statute requiring such reports.

Discuss Liquor Control

The council then drifted into a general discussion of liquor control.

Alderman Grojean suggested that officers "walk through taverns two or three times each evening" as a deterrent to violations of any kind, particularly to underage frequenters. Which drew an immediate statement from Chief of Police Charles Runkel that police do have instructions to check taverns, both day and night.

"It is a peculiar circumstance," Chief Runkel told the council, "that when officers enter taverns we often are advised either by phone or in person that 'police officers are hanging around in taverns.' These officers have instructions to check places where liquor is sold, and enforce law regarding sale of liquor to minors."

He said that in a number of instances under-age persons had "doctored" identification cards by changing ages with a pen, and that some of these attempts to make illegal buys have been detected by tavern owners.

Alderman Hocking called attention to the law which provides penalties for under-age patrons of taverns and liquor stores, as well as the owners.

Forestry Department Strife Flares Again; Will Foreman Stay?

Jacksonville's forestry department, around which a storm of controversy has swirled for several years, roared back into the council chamber last night.

Alderman Clarence Souza, a member of the committee, said that according to street talk, William Burton, foreman, has received notice that his services will not be needed after Mar. 1, adding "and I don't like to get my information in this manner."

To which Mayor Robert DuBois replied: I did not fire him, I did not lay him off. I turned the entire matter over to the committee and Mr. Randall, utilities superintendent.

Randall said during the discussion that he gave Burton notice that the city would not need him after March 1, "because the committee decided that there wouldn't be work for him." Randall implied that the committee had reversed itself.

Chairman Says "There Is Work"

Alderman Wilbur DeFrates, chairman of the forestry committee since the resignation of State Rep. Harris Rowe early this year, said he believes there is sufficient work to keep the foreman busy. The department now consists of two men.

Supt. Randall said only ten dead trees remain to be taken down, two of these by the city and eight under contract. He said apparently there is a misunderstanding between his office and the forestry committee.

Alderman DeFrates and Souza, who conferred recently with the superintendent of utilities, said they proposed to retain the services of the forester by transferring him temporarily to the sewer department if there is not sufficient work on hand, but believe that the forestry department can keep him busy.

"Why spend $800 a month for the forestry department if there isn't any work to do," one alderman inquired.

The department has passed through a series of ups and downs during the past several years. Burton has been in charge of the forestry operations since last spring.

North Clay Parking

A recommendation that parking be prohibited on the west side of Clay avenue between East State and Douglas avenue was presented by Alderman Lemon and DeFrates. The council voted to instruct the city attorney to prepare an ordinance—but not unanimous. Alderman Scott and Tribble voted "No" when roll was called by City Clerk John Phillips.

Police Chief Runkel announced that the city treasurer's office has completed a check of state licenses at the court house, to use in connection with collecting delinquent wheel taxes. A large number of fines were assessed last week and other cases are to be disposed of, the chief stated.

A special committee is continuing study of probable sites for a new municipal parking lot, its chairman, Alderman Souza, reported.

Alderman DeFrates offered the invocation at last night's meeting on request of the mayor.

Johnson Grass Control Meeting Held In Scott

WINCHESTER — Land owners and operators of farms in Scott County were present en masse to help in the preparation of a week eradication program for Johnson Grass under the leadership of Dale Hewitt, Scott county farm adviser, and James Jeffers, state weed control adviser from Springfield.

Slides were shown of ways in which the grass can be controlled and pamphlets distributed which indicated EPTC and Dalapon can be used where a crop is being planted while soil sterilants such as Solum Chloriate, Atlasclad, etc., are encouraged for complete soil sterilization.

For further information pertaining to rates and methods of application anyone interested may stop at the Extension office in Winchester and pick up a copy of Chemical Weed Control in Illinois, 1961, or confer with Mr. Hewitt, the farm adviser.

Jeffers was asked several questions pertaining to weed control and the State Weed Law who pointed out weeds were annually costing Illinois farmers $250 million dollars or an average of $8 per acre. "Johnson Grass in extreme Southern Illinois has reduced the land value by one-half."

"Scott County has had farmers report that less than three bushels of wheat per acre have been harvested from Johnson Grass infested areas while corn production last year resulted in a loss of $50 per acre."

The farmers in attendance were in favor of an eradication program for Johnson Grass that would begin with the scattered, isolated spots of Johnson Grass, then work from the higher ground down the river bottoms.

HOW MUCH INCOME WILL YOU HAVE TO MEET GROWING FAMILY COSTS 10 YEARS FROM NOW?

These facts may help you revise your estimate upwards

Millions of American families nowadays have more income because they're acquiring good common stock. Most of these shareholders invest modest sums, since they earn well under $10,000 a year.

Stock makes you part owner of a corporation. You can share in its profits through dividends. If the company prospers, your dividends may grow—and the value of your shares can increase. In this way you can help provide for those important expenses that will grow as your children grow.

But not every business will prosper. Some will be outstripped by competitors. Stock prices go down as well as up. So invest only money you don't need for living expenses or emergencies. And invest only on facts—never merely on an enticing rumor.

Here's a free booklet of wonderfully useful facts. For example: The records of some 460 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every year for 25 to 113 years. A list of stocks that have been paying progressively higher dividends recently. A description of a plan through which you can acquire shares in famous companies by investing out of income with as little as $40 every three months or as much as $1,000 a month. And much additional valuable information. Let the coupon bring you a free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS."

Ever taken a few minutes to call on a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange? You'll receive a friendly welcome there from a Partner or Registered Representative. Only in a Member Firm will you find Registered Representatives who have had to meet the Exchange's qualifications for knowledge and experience. When you're getting his advice—no charge—ask whether the relatively stable income of preferred stock or bonds would suit you better.

After you've become an investor, make another guess about your income in 10 years. Your estimate will be bigger. Start now with this coupon before you forget.

High among the special pleasures of Cadillac ownership is the car's remarkable handling ease. It seems almost to drive itself. In parking, traffic, or on the open road, a Cadillac maneuvers with scarcely more than your thoughts to prompt it. And contributing to this relaxing feeling of effortless driving is the superb silence of the Cadillac engine . . . the virtual absence of travel noise . . . and those deep and buoyant Cadillac seats. Your Cadillac dealer will be more than happy to let you see for yourself how deftly a 1961 Cadillac handles.

Maj. Patterson Earns Retirement Plaudits

FORT MONROE, Va., February 8 — Major Robert A. Patterson (right) receives a certificate of achievement and congratulatory handshake from Colonel William C. Haneke during retirement ceremonies at Fort Monroe. Colonel Haneke heads Comptroller Section of Headquarters, US Continental Army Command, to which Major Patterson was assigned.

The certificate, signed by General Herbert B. Powell, USCONARC commander, cited Major Patterson for meritorious service in the Management Analysis Division from June 1958 until retirement on January 31. He was particularly commended for efforts which "resulted in improved organizational relationships between Reserve Forces and the Active Army, contributing to the 'One Army' concept."

A veteran of 20 years of active military service, Major Patterson lives at 18 Mill Creek Terrace, Phoebus, Virginia, near Fort Monroe, and will make his retirement home there. Major Patterson's wife, Betty, is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel J. Heneghan, formerly of Jacksonville, Ill., now with the Pattersons.

Space Age Just 40 Months Old —

Man Stands Poised For Leap Into Space

Editor's Note — Man today stands poised for his big leap, already pioneered by a U. S. monkey and two Soviet dogs. In three and a half years, the space age has come a long way. This is the first of three articles discussing the exciting prospects just ahead and reviewing the highlights of the grand assault on the unknown.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Suddenly the big rocket spurts alive in flame and smoke.

Human hearts quicken a beat for this rocket is daring to thrust a man into orbit in the wondrous frontier of space.

The infant space age is only 40 months old. But in 1961, its dazzling pace is quickening, the goals are widening.

And 1961 promises especially to be the year when man first soars into space—be he Soviet or American.

Some initial steps and rehearsal are already done.

The Soviets last August recovered two dogs which had gone circling the earth in a great five-ton spaceship. There are some speculations—meeting stout Soviet denials—that the Soviets have already tried and failed to loft up and so have killed one or more men.

For the United States, a great advance came two weeks ago when a spunky, chipper chimpanzee named Ham rode 155 miles high and 420 miles downrange into the South Atlantic for safe recovery.

But Ham's trip was just part of a tremendous space effort which envisages launching at least 28 U. S. satellites a year.

It calls for a search for life on other planets or somewhere in space. Trips to the moon and Venus and Mars and beyond. Satellites giving global weather reports and precise predictions of blizzards, hurricanes, tornadoes and sunny picnic Sundays. A system of instantaneous worldwide TV and telephone calls and news reports bounced from earth to satellites and back again.

One of the greatest moments will come when a man first looks down for an awesome, thrilling view of his own round earth, and stars shining with new brilliance in the black depths of the universe.

It will mark the first step in breaking the shackles of gravity which kept life down to earth since its beginning.

Let him slip on ice, and gravity brings man crashing down. Gravity holds him safely to his earth spinning 1,000 miles an hour, and limits how high he can jump. Gravity has thwarted his ancient dream to explore the moon and planets.

The odds run strong the first man in orbit will be Russian. The news, indeed, could come any moment. For the Soviets leaped to a seemingly unbeatable early lead toward the goal of manned space flight.

The earliest schedule for an American to go wheeling around the earth is late this year.

Ham passed a critical date in the careful and worrisome timetable on Jan. 31 with his 16-minute sub-orbital flight. The tense moments, minutes and hours of his flight will be compounded 1,000-fold when a living man essays the same journey.

Ham kept pushing levers, as trained, despite the stresses of vastly increased weight at take-off and re-entry, and more than six minutes of weightlessness. His mind and reflexes worked well, indicating man also can think and act in spaceflight.

Sometime this spring probably will come a similar hop by one or more of the seven U. S. astronauts now in rigorous training.

Then the program calls for a chimpanzee to orbit the earth, propelled by a more powerful rocket. If all checks out safely, a man is to go.

The critical questions are whether humans can withstand or be protected against the hazards of radiation, bombardment by meteoritic spacejunk, prolonged weightlessness, the jolting take-off and dangerous return to earth.

All dreams of landing men on the moon and sister planets, of building and operating space way stations, inns and refueling depots, piloting rescue ships to succor spacecraft in trouble, using human skills in space for peaceful or military aims—all these depend greatly upon how the early spacemen fare.

Even if the U.S.S.R. seizes the plum of being first, the Mercury man-into-space program will continue, say officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

For the human mind and senses the human ability to talk, to feel, describe and make decisions, these qualities can enrich the harvest of knowledge and benefits bound to come from space explorations.

This calls for manned explorations by all interested nations.

Interpreting
The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

The immediate future of a large part of Africa depends heavily today on the reaction to the death of Patrice Lumumba.

It appears that efforts of the United States and the United Nations to develop a workable program for the former Belgian Congo have not matured in time.

Katanga Province does not admit that it arranged the killing, but its government accepts the event as an execution for which a reward will be paid.

In the eyes of Africa, this will tend to confirm the feeling that Katanga remains Belgian.

The most radical forces in the Lumumba group, already pulling strings to get the power of the Soviet Union behind their effort to rule all the country, will now benefit from newly dusted wells of sympathy in many places.

Even before the killing the rough treatment of Lumumba had stirred remonstrance among numerous African groups, and in India.

Bonds of affinity had been growing between the Lumumba group and nationalist forces in Northern Rhodesia, where the British are having trouble working out a constitution which will protect all sections of the populace, white and black, under independence later this year.

The Lumumba nationalists also have lines leading into Angola, where Portugal is having troubles.

This whole area of Africa needs little to set off widespread disorder. Unleashed tribal wars in Congo would be likely to do just that.

The Kennedy administration is reported redoubling its effort to come up with a Congo program—both political and economic—which the United Nations could sponsor. But before any real help can arrive the tribal forces, Belgian influences and pro-Communists may deprive the country of any sign of unity.

Lumumba has been a stumbling block in the path of orderly government ever since the Congo crisis developed. But to have him murdered may prove a greater defeat for the West than anything he ever did himself.

In yesterday's article I showed a deceptive play where a defender won a trick with the ace instead of the queen.

Such plays should not be made frequently. All too often the gay deceiver will find that he is never going to make the queen.

A case in point occurred in my first experience with big time bridge. I was a youngster and somehow or other my young partner and I found ourselves playing a short match against two well known experts. The game was auction and while we wound up losing we did have a few good results.

In auction you got credit for everything you made so my one no-trump response was proper. I won the opening diamond in my hand; led the ten of hearts and let it ride. East won the trick with the, whereupon being young and impetuous, I spread my hand and claimed the rest of the tricks. Expert East was flabbergasted. Finally he stammered, "How do you know the heart finesse is going to win?"

"What heart finesse?" I asked. "I have all the tricks in top cards!"

I was impetuous, but I had counted to 12 before claiming.

SCENE STEALERS — When rising young actor Tony Perkins shared the cameras for the first time with Ingrid Bergman in "Goodbye Again," it was neophyte against veteran in the art of scene stealing. Tony acquitted himself so well that Ingrid had to use all the tricks in her book to offset his superb work. Result: a well-acted film.

Youth Leaders Speak At PTA Meet In Bluffs

BLUFFS—The Bluffs Parent-Teacher Association met Thursday evening in the school lunch room with Mrs. Fritz Stegemann, Jr., presiding. This meeting was postponed from the previous week.

The topic, "Have Faith—Need Wisdom" was presented by a panel with representatives from the churches of the area. Mrs. Norris

Whorton, representing the Methodist church gave a very good picture of the work of the Youth of her church, giving the history of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and stressing that every teacher needs a religious life and to take part in the church activities of her community especially as they are examples to their students.

Rev. B. B. Holmes of the Bluffs Baptist church told of the importance of the parents part in child training before school with the thought "train up a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it."

Rev. Fr. O'Hara of St. Patrick's

Catholic church explained the foundations of his church and again spoke of the importance of parental training. He presented a number of the Catholic basic beliefs in a most enlightening manner. At the close of the program several interesting and informative questions were asked and answered, especially having to do with the religion in the public schools.

During the short business session the nominating committee was named to be Mrs. Harold Kilver, David Orchard and Mrs. Robert Lovekamp.

The organization voted to serve the Rebekah banquet on April 12 and to assist with the Band Boosters carnival if asked.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. James Albers, Mrs. Dean Merri-man and Mrs. Harold Kilver, after which all attending the meeting attended the grade basketball game free.

Onyl Yankee pitchers who held Pirate hero Bill Mazeroski hitless in the World Series were Ryne Duren and Bobby Shantz. Both retired him twice.

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y.—(NEA)—The entrance leads into a vast circular room, with an elegant bar secreted into one wall and great sheets of picture windows revealing the foothill country of the Ramapo.

It's the kind of place, sitting on a promontory in suburban Rockland County, the late Max Baer would have pointed to with a gleeful flourish, "Set the ring right there."

"There" would have been the elevated dance floor.

But Floyd Patterson, a recluse by choice, trains in the basement of the Spring Rock Country Club, with a single bulb hanging from an overhead beam, where a lolly column has been removed to make room for the ring. In the summer, the squeals of women golfers would come from the shower stalls in the next room. Now all is muffled by snow. Just 45 minutes from Broadway.

The heavyweight champion, unlimbering for the third and last chapter of the Ingemar Johansson series, likes the solitude for contemplation.

"When people know a man is a fighter," he said before an audience of one as he leaned against a ring post, "they expect him to sound like they see in the movies and on television . . . punchy, with cotton in his mouth, bleary-eyed. That's why you notice when I answer questions I always make them short. In the last election, I liked Kennedy but I won't make you long explanations why."

"I can read and I think for myself. This is the age of the fighter and the lawyer. For this fight, I have 50 per cent of 80 and no one has to explain it to me."

Floyd was referring to the bout contract, in which 30 per cent of the ancillary rights goes to Feature Sports, the promoter, and he gets half of the rest from the March 13 fight in Miami Beach.

His training has been hampered by heavy snowstorms. He can't go on the road for as much running as he likes. He sniffls from a slight cold, threw drops in his nostrils before sparring sessions with a burly heavyweight, John Henry, and his young brother, Raymond, a 162-pound novice.

There is a difference in him physically from the kid who was the youngest at 21 ever to win boxing's biggest prize, in 1956. He's a bona fide heavyweight in force. The large biceps on his arms are taking on the smoothness that Rocky Marciano had for flexible punching power, instead of a lumpy structure that looks good on the beach but binds muscles and restricts socking arc.

The Patterson retinue isn't large. Besides Floyd there are only Dan Florio, the trainer; Buster Watson, his boyhood pal and constant companion; and Ernie Fowler, man of all details. For a Sugar Ray Robinson, it would be like confinement in a padded cell.

Floyd's complete boss on when he'll work and how long. There's been a change in his relationship with Gus D'Amato, his New York-defrocked manager. Gus still arranges matches ("there's an unbreakable bond between us"), but Floyd calls the signals. He stays training sites where once he was content to let D'Amato make all the decisions. He hadn't seen or talked to D'Amato in 30 days.

"I mean to ask him," he said, "why the fight is in Miami Beach anyhow."

Although he was born in North Carolina, Floyd Patterson has spent very little time in the South (he remembers an exhibition before a segregated audience in Ft. Smith, Ark.), and has qualms about going to Florida. He has never been there.

For a fighter, he's not an adventurous sort.

Collinsville Continues To Dominate A P Prep Poll

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bridgeport and Pinckneyville scored gains Monday as Collinsville continued to dominate The Associated Press poll of Illinois high school basketball teams. Still unbeaten, the Collinsville Hawks were selected unanimously for the No. 1 rating the third straight week. The next three positions, remaining unchanged, were occupied by Centralia, Rockford East and Prospect.

Bridgeport, which avenged its only loss in defeating Flora last week, climbed from sixth to fifth. Pinckneyville advanced two places to sixth.

Also moving up in the voting by The AP panel of sports writers was Carver, currently the highest ranked Chicago school. Chicago Marshall's defending state champions fell from 12th to 16th, barely managing to stay in the rated list.

Sterling returned to the ratings and Flora dropped out. The top 16 teams with win-loss records and poll points:

1. Collinsville 21-0	256
2. Centralia 21-1	233
3. Rockford East 18-1	225
4. Prospect 20-1	209
5. Bridgeport 20-1	188

Rocket JVs Stop JHS Frosh

Routt's junior varsity avenged an earlier setback by stopping JHS' yearlings Monday night in Our Saviour's gymnasium, 42-35.

Coach Bob Winstead's winners outscored the losers in every chapter save for the second quarter when they picked up six points to JHS' eight.

Jacksonville was cold from the charity line. It missed 12 free throws. Routt had two more field goals than the losers and hit six of 11 free throws.

Flynn led the scoring for Al Rosenberger's quintet with 13 points but game honors went to Routt's Terry Watts who pitched in 15. The Crimsons suffered their fifth loss in 17 games.

Palmer Magnificent In Winning Playoff From Doug Sanders

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Golf's golden boy, Arnold Palmer, blended deadly irons and putting with booming drives Monday to conquer both par and Doug Sanders by three strokes in an 18-hole playoff for first money in the $30,000 Phoenix Open.

Palmer, the leading money winner of 1960, went ahead with a birdie on the second hole where he laid a wedge second shot three feet from the pin, and led all the way as he carded a 67 for the 6,661-yard Arizona Country Club course.

Palmer picked up $4,300 in official prize money to Sanders' $3,000. Each pocketed one-fourth of the day's gate receipts.

Tournament sponsors estimated this would give each golfer an additional $1,000.

The two had tied at the end of the tournament's regulation 72 holes Sunday with 270 as the San Diego Open. He has finished among the top five money winners four times in 1961.

Palmer's purse Monday pushed his official earnings for the year to $12,425 and advanced him to second spot on the money winning list. Gary Player of South Africa still is the top winner with $13,717. Player won $25 for a 12th place tie in the Phoenix Open.

Buckeyes Have Easy Go Of It With Wildeats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, with some fantastic field goal shooting by Jerry Lucas and Mel Nowell, easily extended its winning streak to 24 games with an 89-65 Big Ten basketball conquest of Northwestern Monday night.

Lucas, 6-foot-8 all-America who broke the Big Ten scoring record with 48 points at Michigan State Saturday night, shot only 11 times against the Wildeats but hit nine for a total of 18 points. He played less than 20 minutes of the one-sided game.

Nowell, 6-foot-2 jump shooting Buckeye guard, popped in 12 field goals in 14 attempts for 27 points to lead Ohio State to its ninth conference victory.

It was the 19th game this season for the top-ranked Buckeyes and was strictly no contest after the first few minutes, although their halftime lead was only 39-30. Ohio State shot 65 per cent from the field in the first half.

Indiana rallied briskly after trailing by 13 points at 54-41, in spite of losing 6-10% Olympic player Walt Bellamy with almost 10 minutes left in the game. A fielder by little Jerry Bass started a comeback that whittled the Purdue lead to 58-55 with 2:42 to play.
Then Orrill hit four straight free throws, Jerry Berkshire two and Terry Dischinger one.
Dischinger, Big Ten scoring leader, scored 18 points, about nine below his average. Tom Bolyard with 15 points led the Hoosiers.

Cole, Maentz Pace Michigan To 78-67 Verdict

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Tom Cole and Scott Maentz led the way as the Wolverines defeated Michigan State 78-67 for their first Big Ten basketball victory of the season Monday night.

Cole, a sophomore from Springfield, Ill., scored 29 points while Maentz added 19 and controlled both backboards.

A season-high crowd of 6,500 watched the Wolverines avenge an earlier defeat at East Lansing.

Michigan was never behind after the first 10 minutes but Spartan Captain Dave Fahs almost got his team back into the lead with three minutes to play. He scored three straight baskets to cut the Wolverines' margin to 66-63.

Michigan led 37-28 at halftime after Maentz speared a first half surge. The two teams swapped the lead 12 times during the first nine minutes. Then Maentz opened up and Michigan went ahead to stay 14-13.

Fahs led the Spartan scoring with 17 points.

The victory was Michigan's first in seven league starts.

NAIA Official Says SIV Drops Membership

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An official of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, said Monday Southern Illinois University, which has withdrawn its membership, had failed to cooperate with a committee investigating the eligibility of a basketball player.

Al Duer, executive secretary of the NAIA, said he received the official notice Monday of the withdrawal, giving as the reason "conflict of interests."

Last week a source at the university said the action was taken for several reasons, the chief one being that the NAIA National Basketball Tournament at Kansas City was held during examinations at the school.

Duer said the eligibility committee of District 20, which comprises Illinois, was in the process last week of checking upon the eligibility of a player.

"To the date," Duer said in a statement, "the officials of Southern Illinois have not cooperated in the request of the duly authorized eligibility committee to provide this athlete's transcript which is necessary to establish whether in fact this institution is actually eligible for either NAIA or conference competition."

"It is at this point that the official notice has been received tendering Southern Illinois' withdrawal of membership."

Duer did not name the athlete, but earlier at Southern Illinois he had been identified as Charlie Vaughn.

Southern Illinois, the college with the highest enrollment among the NAIA membership, has taken part in association events since the early 1940s.

Lopez Looks For Improvement In Three Pitchers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Last year, the White Sox were first in batting and fielding and third in pitching. But we finished third in the American League pennant race, and that was a big disappointment to me.

When you've been a manager as long as I have, you get to expect the unexpected. But I'll expect such comparatively poor seasons from our three top pitchers, Billy Pierce, Early Wynn and Bob Shaw. Pierce came down with an injury that limited his victory total to 14. Wynn and Shaw won 13 apiece after outstanding seasons the year before.

I am looking forward to improved performances by all three, plus the continued development of Frank Baumann, who was one of our bright spots in 1960. Our new pitchers, Cal McLish from Cincinnati and Juan Pizarro from Milwaukee, should give us considerably more strength.

To get the new pitchers, we had to give up Gene Evers, a very good hitter. However, I'm sure that his place at third base will be adequately filled by J. C. Martin. He had a fine year at San Diego in 1960.

Otherwise, there will be very few changes. I have the best men in the league in Nellie Fox at second, Luis Aparicio at short, Jim Landis in center and Sherm Lollar behind the plate. Minnie Mirosso in left and Al Smith in right field give us plenty of strength at those positions. Both had fine years in 1960. Camilo Carreon showed us enough at the end of last season to indicate he'll make a fine substitute for Lollar.

In addition to Martin, we have a few other rookies who could make the club. Stan Johnson and Floyd Robinson, both outfielders, had good years in the Pacific Coast League. Gary Peters, also up from San Diego, and Winston Brown and Ed Drapho, who were obtained in the minor league draft, are pitchers who will get a long look in spring training.

Over-all, I think we are from 20 to 25 per cent improved over last season. We finished 10 games behind the Yankees last year. But I feel we have strengthened ourselves enough to make up the difference.

Bonnies Smother Providence, 95-79

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — St. Bonaventure, the nation's second ranked basketball power, withered Providence 95-79 Monday night with an early dose of Tom Stith and the fast break.

Stith scored 21 of his 28 points in the first half as the Bonnies won their tenth straight basketball game, clearing their last big hurdle before the NCAA tournament.

With the score 11-7 in the early moments, the Bonnies trotted loose their down-court speed to run the count to 31-15. In that stretch they outscored Providence, which has already accepted an NIT tournament bid

Protest Barring Church Leaders From Berlin Meet

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
 BERLIN (AP)—The Western occupying powers protested to the Soviet Union Monday against East German regulations restricting German Protestant church leaders to West Berlin.
 U. S. Maj. Gen. Ralph M. Osborn sent the protest on behalf of British, French and the United States to the Soviet commandant in East Berlin, Maj. Gen. Nikolai F. Zakharov.
 Osborn charged the police of the Communist regime acted illegally in barring about 40 churchmen from a service in East Berlin Sunday night.
 The churchmen, including six bishops of the Evangelical Church were on a Communist blacklist. The Reds claim the right to keep out any West Germans they regard as "militarists and revenge seekers." The barred churchmen were all supporters of a 1957 agreement by which the church provided chaplains for the West German army.

The service marked the opening of a week long session of the Evangelical Church's synod, or parliament, representing its 40 million members in both parts of Germany. At the first business session Monday bishops from East and West defied efforts of the Communist regime to split the church into two parts.
 The retiring titular head of the Evangelical Church, 80-year-old Bishop Otto Dibelius of Berlin, said the Communist harassment had succeeded only in making the unity of the church firmer.
 Surviving his 12 years in office, Bishop Dibelius said "the unity of the Evangelical Church has been preserved and has, as far as man can judge, strengthened itself more and more." This unity survived despite Communist refusal to acknowledge the competence of the church in the East and such tactics as forbidding the synod to hold any of its sessions in East Berlin, he added.

24-Year-Old Woman Killed Near Hardin

HARDIN, Ill. (AP)—A Hardin area farm wife was killed and her daughter seriously injured Monday when their car went out of control and hit a tree five miles east of Hardin.
 The victims were Mrs. Regina C. Godar, 24, and her 4-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, Sherrie Ann Cox.
 Illinois State Police said Mrs. Godar was attempting to pass a truck on Illinois 16 when her car ran off the road and in trying to get it back on she hit the left rear dual wheels of the truck.
 The truck driver, George pounds, 31, of St. Louis, was not injured.
 The child was taken to Children's Hospital in St. Louis where she was reported in serious condition.

Doctor Gets Hearts Of 34 Children Back Again

By FRANCIS STILLEY
 NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-eight little boys and girls, who once gave their hearts to their doctor to be mended for life, gave them back again Monday—at a Valentine party for him.
 It was a hugging, kissing and truly heart-warming occasion for Dr. Alvin A. Bakst, a New York pioneer in open-heart surgery.
 Dr. Bakst was almost speechless as the youngsters surged around him, laughing, chattering and jumping as normal children do.
 Up to four years ago—when the surgeon began his career of open heart operations—there wasn't a normal one in the group.
 In fact, every single one was doomed to death before maturity. They were a pitiful collection of little human beings.
 Some were too weak to move. Some were bedridden. Others would faint every few minutes. A few were already at the edge of death.
 Looking at them Monday, even Dr. Bakst had to shake his head in awe and pleasure at what medical science had enabled his strong hands to do.
 "Isn't it marvelous?" he murmured over and over.
 There hopping about, the picture of liveliness, was Rochelle Hausman, 7, of Brooklyn. Only five weeks ago she was on the operating table.
 There was Richard Zweig, 10, of Jamaica, Queens. Richard had his operation two years ago.
 "Hey, Ritchie," called the doctor. "I hear you're the champion athlete of the summer camps. And I want to thank you for that wonderful letter you wrote me about your operation."
 Richard couldn't admire the doctor more. He is so fond of the surgeon he decided to become a doctor himself.
 The party was staged at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital, where Dr. Bakst has performed most of his 200 open-heart operations on both children and adults.
 Sharing the honors, and the limelight, was Dr. Irving G. Kroop, chief of the hospital's cardiopulmonary unit, and the New York Heart Association.
 They, like their patients, could not be happier over the phenomenal success of a type of operation that was unknown 10 years ago. Since that time an estimated total of 15,000 persons have been given life through them in New York City and a half million or more in the rest of the country.
 The operation nowadays is so successful that a very small percentage of the patients are lost. "Just look at them," exclaimed Dr. Kroop happily eyeing the youngsters about him Monday.

Aurora's Colorful Mayor, Egan, Bids For 3rd Term

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Mayor Paul Egan, who has kept himself in the public eye through two tumultuous terms, will make a bid Tuesday to stay there.
 The occasion is the city primary election. It shapes up as a battle royal, with the scrappy Egan fighting for his political life against nine competitors.
 The two entrants with the largest votes will meet in the runoff April 4.
 Egan, a Cinderella man who has been having a ball for eight years, possibly could hear the clock strike 12. At least two of his opponents are given a chance to get into the final election—Jay L. Hunter, a real estate man who was principal of East High School, and Albert D. McCoy, comptroller for a dress manufacturer.
 Egan, 59 now, came off the unemployment compensation rolls in April 1953 to take the mayor's job by a plurality of 2,800. He won reelection by a margin of 3,741 in 1957.
 During his tempestuous tenure, the mayor has engaged in fist fights, hired and fired police chiefs in assembly line fashion and kept controversies going like chain-smoked cigarettes.
 Some of his undertakings paid off only in publicity. In the fall of 1953 he set up road blocks on highways to keep trucks from rumbling through this city of 63,000 population.
 The mayor receives $8,000 a year, plus $1,500 as city liquor commissioner.
 The contest is non-partisan.
 In the race, besides Egan, Hunter and McCoy, are: Charles A. Darling, the city's corporation counsel; John N. Kramoski, owner of a small machine tool company; Henry C. Maier, a plumber; Arthur P. Noonan, an insurance man; Glen A. Palmatier, former secretary to Egan and now co-owner of a tavern; Edward C. Eger, a tree surgeon; Joseph J. Zeffran, co-owner of a trucking firm.
 The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.
 Arizona has completed its football schedule through 1963. One of its 1962 foes will be the Air Force Academy in a game to be played at Tucson, Ariz.

FIND BOY SHOT TO DEATH
 MORTON GROVE, Ill. (AP)—A sixth grade boy was found shot to death Monday in his home.
 He was Glenn Burke, 12, whose father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burke, were at work at the time of the shooting.
 The boy was shot once in the stomach. A .22 caliber rifle lay nearby on a couch, police said.
 The body was found by Glenn's sister, Mrs. Maureen Pitt of nearby Niles. She told police she visited her parents early in the morning and left to go to a laundromat. She returned two hours later and found her brother's body, she said.
 Mrs. Pitt said the boy seemed in good spirits and had been doing well at school.

Canadians Determined Not To Become, Look Like Satellite Of United States

EDITOR'S NOTE—For every Canadian there are 10 Americans. By the sheer weight of economics, the Canadian is on the defensive when he tries to breast the tide of American thought and methods pouring across the border. But now sparks are flying back across the border, touched off by friction in U.S.-Canadian relations. To gauge this situation The Associated Press assigned Max Harrelson, chief of the AP's United Nations bureau and a long-time reporter of international affairs. This is the second of five articles.

By MAX HARRELSON
 OTTAWA (AP)—When you talk with Canadians and with Americans in Canada you come away with the impression that the rising tide of Canadian nationalism cannot be dismissed as a temporary hysteria.
 Behind it is a deep-rooted and widespread fear that Canada's identity may be smothered by U.S. pressures and influences.
 Canada is determined not to become a satellite of the United States or even to look like one.
 That is one of the factors which make it doubly difficult for seeking a way to patch up the damaged U.S.-Canadian relations. No clear picture of the goal of Canadian nationalism has yet emerged.
 Complicating the problem further, there seems to be no single major grievance against the United States. Whatever pressures there are, most Canadians agree, are purely unintentional and unplanned by the Americans.
 One leading Canadian publication said: "If we have sold too much of our country to our neighbor (and grown rich in the process) this is our own fault, not theirs, and there is nothing any president of the United States can do about it."

The leaders of Canada's two main political parties are Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Lester B. Pearson. They disagree about many things, but they agree that Canada has cause for concern in the growing influence of the United States.
 Says Pearson: "Our anxiety over these dangers is as inescapable as the Canadian winter, and as natural."
 But Pearson sees no reason to be panicky or foolish. He puts it this way: "If we have confidence in our Canadian strength, faith in our Canadian destiny, we will be able to maintain a Canadian national identity, strengthen a Canadian national feeling and sense of purpose: keep proud Canada's position in the world, and at nobody's expense."

Advisory Board Names Groups On 'Unemployment'

CHICAGO (AP)—A special advisory board named recently by Gov. Otto Kerner to study unemployment in Illinois appointed Monday a three-man subcommittee to expedite the study.
 The nine-member Illinois Board of Unemployment Compensation Advisors said the subcommittee could gather data concerning unemployment faster than the parents group.
 The board named to the subcommittee its chairman, Prof. Frank R. Breul of the University of Chicago, and P. L. Siemiller, general vice president of the International Association of Machinists, and Gordon W. Winks, general counsel for Illinois Bell Telephone Co.
 Breul said the smaller group will make a detailed study of the state's unemployment situation and submit recommendations to the larger body.
 But the subcommittee, he added, will serve only in an advisory capacity. Kerner has asked the larger group to outline legislation to combat unemployment. Breul said any proposals handed to the state legislature will be presented by the nine-member board.
 The board took no other formal action but reviewed Kerner's request.

The governor, who last week termed jobless benefits in Illinois among the lowest in the nation, has asked for legislation extending benefits to unemployed persons whose compensation eligibility became exhausted Oct. 31.
 The state labor director, Robert W. Johnston, has estimated this emergency aid would affect about 23,000 persons.
 Kerner also has proposed an increase in the amount of weekly jobless benefits. The state's average unemployment compensation currently is $34.12 per week.
 Breul said the subcommittee has no immediate plans. The group's parent organization is scheduled to meet again Feb. 20 in Chicago.

BUYS KENNEDY BOOK
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 20th Century-Fox Studio announced Monday it has purchased "The Enemy Within," a book by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and will produce it as a motion picture. The price was not disclosed.
 Producer Jerry Wald will make the movie. He hopes to start production by summer.
 The book was an outgrowth of Kennedy's experience as chief counsel for the Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor-Management Field. The story highlights problems and abuses uncovered by the committee.

Admiral Turner, WWII Amphibious Commander, Dies

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—Admiral Kelly Turner, 73, U.S.N., ret., died here Sunday, apparently from a heart attack. He was commander of all U. S. amphibious forces in the Pacific in World War II.
 A member of the U. S. Navy Academy class of 1908, he was promoted to the rank of full admiral in May 1945.
 He commanded the Naval Aircraft Squadron of the Pacific Fleet for two years, then was made chief of the Planning Bureau of Aeronautics for the Navy, a post he held until December 1951.
 For the next two years Turner was executive officer on the carrier Saratoga, then was appointed chief of staff of the Navy's Air Battle Force in 1954. From 1940 to 1942 he was director of the War Plans Division of the Navy.
 After distinguishing himself as commander of the 3rd Amphibious Force in the Solomons and the Gilbert and Marshall Islands, Adm. Turner was put in charge of all amphibious forces in the Pacific.
 Turner, a native of Portland, Ore., retired in April 1947, and lived quietly in Monterey. A sister, Miss L. Lucile Turner of nearby Carmel, and a brother, R. Ler Turner, of Phoenix, Ariz., survive.

NO HALL HALL

Oxford, Ohio (AP)—Miami University of Ohio has named many of its buildings after former presidents of the school. For instance, it has an Upham Hall, a Benton Hall and a Hughes Hall.
 But it's doubtful if the man who was president during the Civil War will ever be honored in such a manner. His name: John W. Hall.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

- Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes).
- Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter (which filters better through specially packed fibers).
- Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.
- Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminumized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
- Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.
- Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it will continue to glitter like new. It never needs waxing.
- Extended Warranty—Each part of '61 Ford, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Owners remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters and ignition parts.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.
 Medical tests prove this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.
 This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve tight nervous tension. All without painful injections.
 The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.
 So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatene only 25¢, at any drug store.

Quit Cramming, Study Systematically

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.,
with HARRY KARN'S
Today we are going to outline a plan that will help you get better grades on examinations. First, let's look at a sad scene. Place: College dormitory. Time: The eve of semester exams.

Glassy-eyed, hollow-cheeked youths sit staring at books and notes amid coffee cups, cigarette butts, and sandwich scraps, trying to learn in a single night what they should have been learning in the past four and one-half months. From their early days of high school to their last days of college, American students gear their study habits to the cram session. The idea is to skim the surface from day to day and catch up with a one-night blaze of intellectualism. But the blaze somehow is never quite that hot. Harold was a student at State College. He lived in a fraternity house. In each part of his daily study he had in the back of his mind that morbidly pleasant social event at the fraternity house on the night before examinations. This led him unerringly to a "C" average balanced precariously on the brink of "D."

We suggested that he get off the cram system and start a program of systematic study. He tried it. At semester's end we asked him how he was doing. He had made "A's" in all his tests. "So—no more cramming?" Harold smiled sheepishly. "Well, to tell the truth, I don't cram anymore, personally. But the guys at the frat house sort of expect a fellow to show up at the cram sessions. So, I—er—well, I stay up with them all night." We shook our head disapprovingly but Harold added brightly: "Anyway, I make better grades than they do even though I do lose all that sleep."

Review For A Week
Your preparations for exam day should not be an effort to sponge up everything at once. They should be an organized review over a period of several days, of what you have been sponging up (we hope) all along.

Now we are going to suggest ways of doing this review. Since different types of exams require slightly different methods, we will deal with several types separately. Some courses, literature for example, lean heavily to exams of the essay type. In preparing for this type of exam try these steps: 1. Review the big, general pattern of the subject to be covered. Do this by reading the table of contents through the chapters, looking at paragraph headings and summaries. 2. Go back through the table of contents, the chapter headings, and the summaries, asking yourself the questions and answering them. Make a question about each item in the table of contents. Write out answers to the questions you feel are most likely to be asked on the test. 3. Improve on your answers. Go over them with an eye for making them more exact. Go back over your lecture notes and the marginal notes in your book. Essay-type tests require considerable writing, so at this point we want to stress once more how important it is to learn the art of penmanship. The physical act of writing should not be such a labor that it forms a barrier to the easy, swift, and precise expression of the thought. Bill, a freshman at a large university, came to us holding a report card with a "D" in English like a dead toad on the end of a stick. He was on the track team and, thanks to a sensible coach, had developed his legs pretty well. But somehow no sensible teacher had ever thought of teaching him to develop the fingers that held his pen. We read Bill for the next English exam by having him write a short paragraph over and over again for about 20 minutes each day. In about four days his penmanship improved markedly, and his writing muscles got stronger. On the fifth day he got "B" on his exam.

Work Out A System
While going through steps one, two, and three, mentioned above, it helps to relate one item of information to another. Make them all fit together. Make them mean something to one another. The more diversified, the more complete, you make these associations, the easier it will be to remember the data. When you relate persons to events, shape a picture in your mind instead of merely memorizing some words. It helps some. (TOMORROW: More tips on how to prepare for exam day.)

times to exaggerate the picture, to make a caricature of the personalities involved. When you think of "Teddy" Roosevelt as the robust, buck-toothed, delighted leader of the Rough Riders, a whole flood of memories of his traits and the events of his administration pours through the mind. Napoleon wore a three-cornered hat and posed with his hand in his tunic. FDR clenched a cigarette holder in his teeth. John L. Lewis has shaggy eyebrows. These are some of the more obvious caricatures, but they suggest how you may give substance and color to more obscure personalities which it is your duty to remember.

When you get ready for a literature exam, you are faced with the problem of linking characters, authors, and settings and the names of books. Connect the author's name with each character and each situation. Thus: "Shakespeare developed a real skinflint in his character of Shylock in the Merchant of Venice." Associate other characters in the play with Shylock. Study their effects on him and his on them. Remember, the more systematically you tie things together in your mind, the easier it is to recall them when you need them on examination day.

Legion Post Plans Annual Picnic At Woodson

WOODSON — The Woodson American Legion held its February meeting Monday, Feb. 6, at the Legion Home. A potluck dinner was enjoyed by the auxiliary and Legion members before the meeting. Commander Sheehan announced that the Post had reached 100% membership for 1961. Main business of the meeting was discussing plans for the Annual Woodson American Legion Burgo Picnic to be held Saturday, July 22. Also the annual Township 14-10 beauty queen contest will be a featured attraction. Another big feature this year will be a parade to be held Saturday afternoon. The following members were appointed to plan and organize the parade: Jack Loneragan, John Irlam, Paul Sheehan, Dale White, Oliver McIlrath, Don Colclasure, and Leroy Moss. Any business, individuals or organizations are invited to participate. Further notices and instructions pertaining to the parade will be announced later along with the naming of the entertainment and many other necessary committees. Morgan County Commander Oliver McIlrath announced that the Morgan County American Legion would hold its meeting at Woodson March 6, and asked for a good turnout of members.

Should Nixon Wait Until 1968 To Make New Bid For Presidency?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jack Bell, chief of the AP's Senate staff, is a veteran newsman who has been a close observer of the national political scene for many years. By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Published reports that Richard M. Nixon might wait until 1968 to bid again for the presidency have provoked mixed reaction among Republicans. Some of Nixon's admirers think it might be a very good idea for the former vice president to run for governor of California in 1962 and, if elected, to seek a second term in 1966 before trying for the presidency. Other friends believe, however, that it would be a mistake for him to risk a state race in which either success or defeat would be likely to remove him from among the ranks of potential 1964 party nominees. If he runs for governor Nixon could be expected to pledge that he would not quit in the middle of his first four-year term to seek national office. If he lost, his political career would be at an end. However, the commitment to serve a full term as governor would not be without its reward. Such a pledge would certainly dull any charges that he was ducking another contest with Kennedy and waiting for an opponent in 1968 who lacked the advantages of White House occupancy. The Republican disappointment in Nixon's defeat has been accentuated by the general feeling among party workers that they had things going their way after Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years in the White House. As a result, Nixon's standing with the pros who ordinarily have something to say about the choice of delegates to nominating conventions is described as being at a low point. This is one of the reasons why some of the former vice president's backers feel it is imperative for him to carve out new Republican support by winning the California governorship, if he can. Another reason is that Nixon may find it difficult as a private citizen to raise his political voice to the desired level likely to be attained by two potential 1964 rivals for the nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz. In a possibly significant move, the Senate Republican Policy Committee gave unprecedented attention to views expressed by

Rockefeller. The Memo, which keeps GOP senators up to date on party issues and policies, has not mentioned Nixon since the session of Congress began. CLEAN GETAWAY
GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — It wasn't a dirty thief after all. Police received a call from a woman who reported a thief broke into her motel and stole 20 dirty sheets. The woman telephoned again two minutes later. The culprit, she said, was the laundry man.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market overcame irregularity and moved to the upside in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 70 at 232.60 with industrials up 1.60, rails up .20 and utilities down .10.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among pivotal issues.

The list spurted in a wave of heavy trading after House Speaker Sam Rayburn emerged from a conference with President Kennedy and said the need to fight recession was more urgent than at any time since the depression of 1938.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines, electronics, and electrical equipments were on the upside. Chemicals, utilities, tobacco, drugs, and oils were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.23 at 641.27.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were higher.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

XX
Mrs. Stitt took a step forward. "I think," she said in a tone of deadly evenness, "that you'd better hand over the key to that door — if you know what's good for you."

Jane took a stumbling step backward. "I won't."

"All right, then." After a brief but effective pause, Mrs. Stitt went on. "Then I'll just have to call in the police won't I? One way or another I mean to know what you've been up to here, signing Miss Blanche's name to checks and locking her up in her room..."

Jane's face had gone white with terror. "I didn't!"

"Then why are you so scared?" Mrs. Stitt pointed a finger. "Now, you get that door open and no more fooling around, do you hear me?"

Jane, for the moment, could only stare at her and shake her head. "It'll be a lot better for you to let me have a look in there than to have to explain to the police," Mrs. Stitt nodded significantly toward the telephone stand.

Jane turned her head, and the bauble on her beret glittered there in the dimness with a sudden and obscene brightness.

Mrs. Stitt held out her hand. "Now, you give me that key. I'll just look in and see for myself if she's all right. If she is, I'll go on away and leave you alone. I won't even need to wake her up. Come on, now, give it here."

Slowly, her shoulders going limp in defeat, Jane opened her purse. She reached inside and produced the key. Looking up at Mrs. Stitt, her eyes dull pressed the cloth tight to the curved surface. "You remember I mentioned her name was familiar—Jane Hudson?"

"Uh-huh?"

"I should have remembered right away, but it was so long ago, you know. Anyway, I was up front today—at Hazel's—and I happened to mention, just in the conversation, that you had this job with Jane Hudson. Well, when I said that you should of seen Hazel's face," Del looked up at him for a moment, then quickly down again.

Edwin stared at her blankly; obviously this was to be even a bigger scoop than he had thought. "Jane Hudson," he said flatly. "She's Jane Hudson. Anyway that's who she says she is."

"Well, yes," Del said gravely, "but she's Blanche Hudson's sister, too—Blanche Hudson who used to be the big important star. Did she tell you that?"

Again Edwin kept his gaze blank.

"You know—the one that was crippled in that accident right at the zenith of her career?"

Why did she always have to talk like a column out of some old fan magazine? Blanche Hudson—he supposed he had heard the name somewhere; it sounded familiar.

"Well, it was her that did it—that crippled Blanche. Jane Hudson, I mean. Crippled her own sister."

Edwin stared in genuine surprise.

"They hushed it up at the time all right. They thought maybe some of the operations they tried on her might make her walk again—so she could go back to acting—so naturally they didn't want it to come out that her own sister had tried to kill her."

Believe Blaze At Jerseyville Was Work Of Firebug

JERSEYVILLE—Fire, which local police officials have indicated may have been of incendiary origin, did damage to the two story frame dwelling at 702 Summer street, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baltimore.

At the time of the fire, Mr. and Mrs. Baltimore were away from home. Baltimore was out of town and Mrs. Baltimore had gone to a dinner party at the home of a neighbor.

The fire started on the outside of the dwelling and officers indicated here Saturday that the outside of the house had been sprayed with oil or a similar substance at a point on the weatherboarding where the fire started.

Mrs. Baltimore reported that when she left home to go to the residence of the neighbor where she was attending the dinner party that a shed on the premises was locked. A glass container filled with kerosene was in the shed, but this container was found in the yard after the fire, and the shed door was unfastened. The container was empty.

When the Jerseyville Fire Department arrived at the Baltimore residence, the flames from the outside weather boarding had burned upward to a point near the eaves.

City police arrested a suspect found loitering in the vicinity of the fire and took him to the county jail. Later the suspect was released when he volunteered to submit to a lie detector test during the week of Feb. 13.

The 84 forward passes caught by Elroy Hirsch of Los Angeles in 1950 is still a National Football League record.

District Interboard School At Pittsfield

Nearly 250 Methodist pastors and laymen were in attendance at a district interboard school in First Methodist church, Pittsfield, on Saturday afternoon and evening, Feb. 11. The purpose of the meeting was to present the program of The Church and to give training to local church leaders.

In attendance at the meeting were pastors from the 105 Methodist churches of the Jacksonville District, the chairmen of the official boards, and the chairmen or representatives of the six commissions in each local church. Reverend H. Russell Coulter, Jacksonville District superintendent, was general chairman for the workshop. Instructors from the General Board of the Methodist church conducted the training of pastors and laymen of the local church commissions responsible for membership and evangelism, education, missions, stewardship and finance, Christian social concerns, worship and music. There were special workshops for instruction of pastors and official board chairmen.

Assisting in the workshops from the Central Illinois Conference are Dr. Joseph Albrecht, First Church, Springfield; Dr. Harvey E. Dibrrell, Reverend J. Henry Cox and Dr. Howard B. Oborn, Bloomington; and Richard Gantz, DeLand.

National church leaders for these workshops are Dr. Carl Soule, Board of Christian Social Concerns, Chicago; Dr. Ernest Dixon, board of education, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Leslie Ross, board of evangelism, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Richard Belcher, board of missions, New York City; and Gordon Danielson, board of lay activities, department of stewardship and finance, Chicago.

Fieldon Girl Reigns As Rural Life Queen

Recuperates At Kin's Home From Wreck Injuries

Mrs. Lea Watson who was injured last Tuesday in an automobile accident west of Fishhook on Route 104 in which she suffered neck, back and leg injuries has been released from St. Mary's hospital in Quincy. She is now recuperating at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Winner, 429 East Douglas avenue.

The car which she was driving was totally demolished when she went to sleep at the wheel and turned over several times.

Fellowship Has Supper, Travel Pictures Shown

The Women's Fellowship of Central Christian church entertained the men of the church at their monthly meeting. A potluck supper was served to 130 with the nine women's groups contributing meat and various dishes.

The Sharp groups, with Mrs. Blanche Minter supervising, organized the dining room and kitchen serving, with the assistance of the Stone Group. Mrs. Margery Wofford is leader of the Sharp Group and Mrs. Mildred Waters of the Stone Group.

"Amateurs Abroad" was the topic used by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Savage, when they gave everyone a resume of their last summer trip abroad. As slides were shown, they commented on the main points of interest. They visited a dozen European countries on a tour group with O. E. Schutte. Many interesting and amusing slides were given and at the end of the program everyone felt they, too, had made the journey.

The World Day of Prayer luncheon is to be served at the Christian church on Feb. 17. Tickets are available in the office of Mrs. Lyle Davis and Mrs. Robert Ray. The price is $1 and the time is 11 to 1. Reservations must be made by noon Feb. 16. The afternoon service is at the Grace Methodist church and at the First Presbyterian church in the evening at 7:30.

UPDATES FRANKLIN ADVENTURE
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Steve Covington, 19, updated Ben Franklin's kite flying adventures with startling results Monday.

Steve was using crocheting yarn with metallic threads for string when the wind swung his kite over a power line carrying 12,000 volts. He was only slightly jarred by the resulting shock. But the short-circuit cut off power to 3,000 Orangevale area homes for an hour and temporarily knocked out a substation.

Wm. R. McCauley, Past Commander Of Legion, Dies

Word of the death of William R. McCauley, a past Commander, Illinois Department of the American Legion, which occurred at 1 p.m. Monday at the Veterans administration hospital in Marion, Ill., has been received in this city by Frank A. Robinson, Service Officer of the Illinois Veterans Commission.

Mr. McCauley, 80, a resident of Olney, Ill., was part owner and publisher of Olney Daily Mail.

Mr. McCauley had served continuously as chairman of the Rehabilitation Commission of the American Legion Department of Illinois. He retired last year as chairman because of ill health.

Mr. McCauley was state senator from 1928 to 1932 and was a candidate for state auditor in 1948. He was state commander of the American Legion from 1920 to 1922, the first former Army private to be elected to the Legion post and the first man to serve two terms.

McCauley's sister, Mrs. Myrtle Young, died Jan. 31 at her home in Olney. Mrs. Young, who was 86, was the widow of the founder of the Daily Mail, L. D. Young.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Summers-Rainey Funeral Home on East Cherry street in Olney. Burial will be made at Olney.

Arenzville PTA Will Reorganize Past Presidents

ARENZVILLE — The Arenzville P.T.A. will meet Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Home Ec room, and the program theme is "Have History—Will Preserve."

The past presidents will be recognized, several reports of interest will be given, flags for the grade school rooms and the gym will be presented, and music will be provided by grade school band students.

Hostesses are Mrs. John Schroeder, Mrs. Roland Beard, Mrs. Wendell Middendorf, and Mrs. William Morris.

Dr. Michelson To Give Book Talk

"The Relevance of Soren Kierkegaard to the Life of the Mind" will be the subject of a lecture by President Gordon E. Michelson Thursday, Feb. 16, at 4:10 p.m. in Pfeiffer Library, MacMurray College. The address is one in the College's annual "Book Talks" series, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Soren Kierkegaard, who died in relative obscurity in 1855, is now generally recognized as one of the most original minds of the 19th century. This great Danish thinker is credited with laying the foundations for two very different but vital movements, neo-orthodox theology and existentialist philosophy. His early perception of the weaknesses of science and the inadequacy of the state religion led him to seek new emphasis on subjectivity which has been conspicuous not only in 20th century philosophy and theology but also in much 20th century literature.

President Michelson is especially qualified to discuss Kierkegaard because his doctoral dissertation dealt with Kierkegaard and Baron Friedrich von Hugel. An informal question period will follow the talk itself.

Man, Sentenced In U.S. Biggest Robbery, Dies

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP)—Death has claimed one of the eight men sentenced to life imprisonment for the nation's biggest cash robbery — the $1,219,000 looting of Brink's Armored Money Transfer Service in Boston 11 years ago.

Henry Baker, 54, died Monday night in the Norfolk Prison Colony Hospital of bronchial pneumonia. He was taken there Sunday after he was stricken at the state prison.

A band of armed men in Halloween masks swept into Brink's Boston office the night of Jan. 17, 1950, quickly harvested the treasure and vanished for 6½ years.

Then, with statutes of limitation running out, the FBI broke the case. That agency said there were 11 participants, but only eight were brought to trial. Two others had died. The 11th, Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, became the prosecution's chief witness.

Only a pittance of the loot ever has been recovered.

Announce Greene County Red Cross Drive Quotas

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Thelma Wilkinson, 1961 Red Cross Fund Drive chairman for Greene County and Mrs. Frank Greer of Greenfield, vice chairman for the campaign have announced the quotas for the various areas and local chairmen for the drive.

The goal for the county is somewhat lower than last year due to the fact that the county caught up for the year after a three year effort and no balance had to be brought forward and added to the 1961 budget.

The areas, quotas and chairmen are as follows:

Athensville, $135, Mrs. George D. Morrow; Shuffade, $225, Mrs. William Volter; Carrollton, $400, Mrs. Jake Sheldon and Miss Billy Obst; Hillview, $200, Mrs. Robert Wear; Kane, $225, Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. Albert Roth.

Linder, $200, Mrs. Charles Purl; North Rockbridge, Rubicon, $700, Mrs. A. M. Dalton; Patterson, $135, Mrs. Leslie Sorrells; Roodhouse, $1300, Mrs. Leta Ballard; S. Rockbridge, $180, Mrs. Walter Pillerger; Walkerville, $160, Mrs. John O. Pate; Pine Bluff, $100, Mrs. L. H. White; Hal, $1350, Mrs. Robert Fier, Mrs. Hal Nevius; Woodville, $180, Mrs. Thomas Hanlin; Wrights, $210, Lynn Meyer and Jake Tucker.

Young Mother Dies, Daughter Injured In Jersey Wreck

JERSEYVILLE — Mrs. Jerome Godar, 24 years of age, of Hardin, Ill., sustained fatal injuries in a motor vehicle accident about one fourth mile north of the junction of Route 16 and Route 100, in western Jersey county, about 10 a.m. Monday.

According to state police reports, the accident occurred when Mrs. Godar pulled out to pass a truck and went off the pavement onto the shoulder. When she pulled back onto the pavement, she lost control of the car and sideswiped the truck. The car went out of control and collided with a tree at the side of the highway.

Mrs. Godar was accompanied by her four year old daughter, Sharon Ann Cox, who was also seriously injured.

Mrs. Godar was brought by Jacoby Brothers ambulance to the Jersey County Hospital where her death occurred at 1:05 p.m.

Sharon Ann Cox was taken in Jacoby Brothers ambulance to the St. Louis Children's Hospital after initial treatment at the local hospital.

State troopers Elmer Lehr and Rutger Peters Jr. of Hardin were called to the scene of the accident and handled the situation.

The body of Mrs. Godar was removed Monday afternoon from Jacoby Brothers Funeral Home in Jerseyville to the Hanks Funeral Home in Hardin.

An inquest into the accident will be conducted by Coroner Rodney C. Jacoby at a later date.

Richard Amberg, Publisher, To Speak At News Seminar

Richard Amberg, publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, will be the banquet speaker at MacMurray College's Eighth Annual Newspaper Conference, February 17-18.

One of the nation's outstanding journalists, Amberg has been Globe Democrat publisher since 1955. After graduating with honors from Harvard University, Amberg held positions on the Syracuse Post Standard, the New York Herald-Tribune, and Newsday before taking his present job.

He will speak to more than 300 delegates from an expected 60-70 midwest college, universities, and high schools. Master of ceremonies at the banquet will be Karin Walsh, City Editor of the Chicago Sun-Times.

Other metropolitan newspaper men leading the conference will be Maurice Fischer, City Editor, Chicago Daily News; Ken McCordie, Editorial Writer, Chicago Daily News; Robert L. Burnes, Sports Editor, St. Louis Globe Democrat; Thomas Sherman, Music and Fine Arts Editor, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; and Ralph Ulrich, Chief Copyreader, Chicago Sun-Times.
